Frequently Asked Questions

Do I have to be a member of the church to attend Sunday School?

While church membership is encouraged among believers, it is not a requirement to attend, or join, a Sunday School class.

Do I need to know a lot about the Bible to feel comfortable in Sunday School?

Absolutely not. The purpose of Sunday School is to help individuals grow in their knowledge of the scriptures in an informal setting that is conducive to discussion.

How do I know which class to attend?

This brochure offers a basic guide to our classes. Children, ages birth through high school, are grouped into age-appropriate classes. Adults may choose from many available classes.

If you would like further information about any of our classes, please see one of our Sunday morning greeters, or contact our Sunday School Director or Assistant Director.

I have never attended a Sunday School class. Why should I start now?

Green Meadows Baptist Church offers Sunday School classes as a setting for every generation to participate in Bible study, to develop friendships with other believers, and to get involved in the mission of the church. Everyone, regardless of age, is encouraged to participate. You are never too old (or too young) to attend Sunday School!

Now to him who is able to do immeasurably more than all we ask or imagine, according to his power that is at work within us, to him be glory in the church and in Christ Jesus throughout all generations, for ever and ever! Amen.
